Religion: The first Sunday of Advent is this Sunday! We will be talking about Advent and Jesus' birth.

Reading: Check your child's workbook pages and Weekly Assessment for current skills. We have just finished reading our first plays!

English: We are working on prepositional phrases, how nouns are used in sentences, identifying singular/plural nouns, and common and proper nouns. These are proving to be difficult skills. We will continue practicing for quite some time.

Math: We continue working on identifying and counting coins, identifying odd and even numbers, and adding and subtracting through 18.

Social Studies/Science: We will complete the Winter Animal mini unit on Monday. We learned that animals adapt, hibernate, or migrate as the weather gets colder. During the next week or so, we will be .for the Christmas play. I will "squeeze" in the Science/Social Studies Game show whenever possible.

Christmas Program Note: On Wednesday, December 13, we will perform this year's Christmas play. The play takes place in the West in the 1800s. We are asking that the children wear jeans and a western type shirt. Flannel, I think, will be too warm. Any color of button down shirt is fine. Athletic shoes, please. Children are asked to arrive that evening no earlier than 6:30 p.m. Please walk your child to our classroom. the program, please come to the classroom to pick up your child. If someone other than a parent is picking up, I must have a written note telling me whom. Please send the note with your child the morning of December 13; things get a bit "wild" the evening of the performance, and I want to ensure everyone's safety. Thank you.

Thanks, too, to all of you for attending the conference. I am always so happy to meet with you to discuss your child. Please don't hesitate to call if you need to meet again.

Have a great weekend.
